Subject: Your usage of the debian.eu domain

Dear Mr. Dhaenens,

You are listed as the holder of the debian.eu domain name. Debian is a registered trademark of Software in the Public Interest, Inc and is managed by the Debian project. We contacted you six weeks ago, but have not had a response from you.

Debian has informed us that they believe you are using the debian.eu name inappropriately; it redirects to a hosting website (<http://www.combell.com/nl>) which you appear to be involved in. There is no obvious connection to the Debian project from this site, nor indication that you have any connection with the project.

The EurID ADR procedure notes clearly state that this would constitute a speculative or abusive registration.

I am therefore writing to you again to request that you transfer control of the debian.eu domain to Software in the Public Interest, Inc. to hold for the Debian project. If you have already registered this domain on behalf of the Debian project and are still waiting for them to contact you about it please let us know. If you have not yet done this, please contact hostmaster@spi-inc.org so that we can begin this process. We would like to avoid embarking on the EurID ADR procedure.

Sincerely,

- Jörg Jaspert -
Vice President, Software in the Public Interest, Inc.
